

Selling your Trailers? We're buying.

With Trailer Fleet Services from GE (formerly known as TIP) you can count on our network of trailer fleet management professionals to help you manage your fleet inventory.

As part of our Remarketing Services, we can help you manage your supply and demand of trailers – which includes the capability of purchasing quality surplus trailer inventory from you.

Advantages of Selling

There are many reasons why selling your trailers through our network may be the right answer for you. It may be time to upgrade your fleet by trading obsolete or older units for newer used trailers. You may also be able to obtain higher trade-in value for pre-owned equipment rather than through a manufacturer when purchasing new equipment. Selling your under-utilized trailers also allows you to improve your cash flow by liquidating assets and freeing up valuable capital for investment.

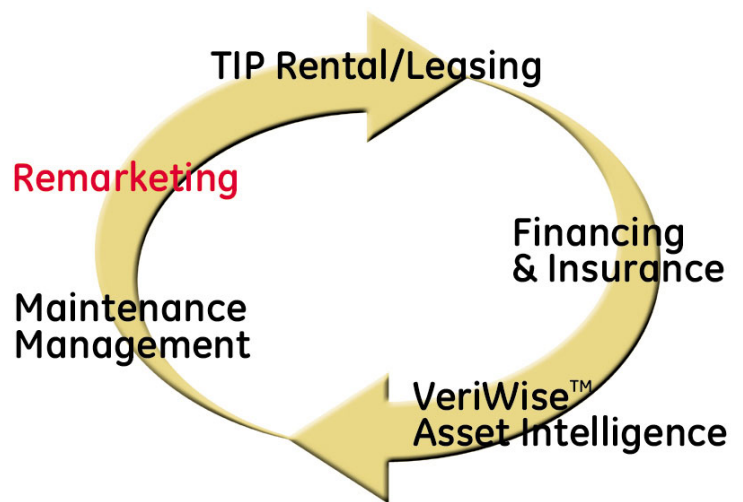

Your Channel to Manage Your Fleet

Leverage our nearly fifty years of trailer management expertise and industry contacts to get you the best price for your trailers. We have a variety of Remarketing programs available and can help tailor a program that meets your financial needs.

Program Benefits

When you specify the trailers you want to sell through our Remarketing Services you get...

- > One-stop shopping for trailer services
- > Flexible drop locations via complete North American branch network
- > Flexible Turn-in Condition terms using our Maintenance Management
- > Ability to sell your trailers now and rent them back until your new trailers arrive
- > GE's financial leverage to Buy & Sell large groups
